

Robert Calderisi – “The Trouble with Africa” and a Wine Tasting

Thursday January 13, 2005

5:30 pm (Annual General Meeting, for members only, at 4.30 p.m.)

Goodmans, Eaton Centre
250 Yonge Street, Suite 2400, Toronto, Ontario

Robert Calderisi, who was a 1968 Quebec Rhodes Scholar and first visited South Africa in November 1975 (a few months before the Soweto uprising), recently returned to Canada after a thirty year career in international development, most of it at the World Bank. He has worked on some of that institution's most controversial projects, including the Indonesia land resettlement program (1983-84) and the Chad-Cameroon Oil Pipeline (2000-2002). He lived in Tanzania and Côte d'Ivoire and was the Bank's Africa spokesman for three years. Robert has just completed a book entitled "The Trouble with Africa", which explains why Africa has virtually fallen off the map. It details why Africa receives less private investment in a decade than China does in a single year, and suggests radical changes to the way the rest of Africa tries to help the continent. On January 13th, he will summarize his argument and suggest possible implications for the business sectors of Canada and South Africa. There will be good South African wine to compliment the evening.
